Comment: Though not a local resident I am a regular visitor to Marble Hill and the Thameside areas of Richmond and Twickenham so called 'Arcadian Thames'. I have been delighted by the restoration of Strawberry Hill and the interior re-decoration of the the Octagon at Orleans House which has brought new life to these important historic buildings. Now is surely the time for Marble Hill to receive the attention that it urgently needs so I wish to voice my support for the proposals put forward by English Heritage for the very necessary restoration of this nationally important house and park. English Heritage has worked extremely hard to put together a proposal that responds to the wishes and needs of the local community. The arguments in support have been well expressed by many local residents and organisations such as the Marble Hill Society, The Gardens Trust and others so I am not repeat them.
