Comment: Any effort to increase biodiversity is a great idea. There have been huge destruction of our native species and this is a chance to reverse that trend. Please ensure that plants used are natives and native grown. Both are important for caterpillars and pollinators. Please do not use the spectacularly over-rated rhododendron. Some blackthorn and buckthorn thickets tucked away at the park fringes would be an excellent natural barrier and wildlife haven. Apologies for being a insufferable local. Hope it all goes well.
