Comment: I object to the layout and density of the proposed housing, feeling very strongly that 116 units is far too many for this relatively small site. The proposed plans include buildings several stories higher than the surrounding housing which will then dwarf these, interfering with views and light. Also will be unpleasant for the anyone living in the 5 story building when the planes go over head. We live in a 2 story and planes are deafening can't imagine how a 5 story building will withstand the noise and vibrations.

This will also hugely impact traffic generation and highway safety with the number of cars negotiating the narrow roads in the area increasing dramatically. May road will have to bear the brunt of traffic which is already at braking point on rugby match days. The narrow streets where not designed to cope with the level we already have.

the town houses in the development I agree with but the 5 story flats will bring nothing to local resident but block out the light and replace the existing factory funnels with another eyesore. The area could use a swimming pool or green space for local residents as currently there are limited space for children to play or facilities for teenagers.
