Comment: This is still gross overplanning. Buildings of 9 storeys high will be a blight. Is there a doctor's surgery in the planning to cope with all the residents (+school)? Access will be greatly limited by the site's position. The traffic generated by such a large development will be huge. It can only enter and exit towards Barnes (already busy and with Hammersmith Bridge closed, under greater pressure), towards Richmond ('Chokers' Corner - self-explanatory name) or via the Sheen Lane level crossing - diabolical.
