Comment: Richmond Council would, I believe, be highly creative if it were to agree to the preservation of the historic buildings on the site of the former Stag Brewery - just as it has been highly creative over many years in preserving the character of Mortlake's riverside area between Barnes Bridge and Chiswick Bridge.

If, however, Richmond Council were to agree to the application to build blocks of flats up to nine storeys high on the Stag Brewery site, this would, I believe, be highly destructive - not only of the character of Mortlake's riverside area, but also of the character of Mortlake as a whole.
