Subject: NEW PLANNING application Mortlake Brewery

Dear [REDACTED]

Reducing precious green space, namely the existing sports field, into a micro park will be disastrous for the environment and bad for community. In addition, the proposal of 1,114 residential units, will introduce gridlocked traffic in Mortlake High Street & environs with greatly polluted air. It is well established that traffic fumes are very harmful to the health of children so the idea of building another school, which is not required anyway, is absurd.

Why are the planners persisting when the Mayor of London, Sadiq Khan who clearly has the best interest of Londoners at heart, has already rejected their ginormous scheme?

More modest and amenable plans, that respects the existing conservation area and the height of its heritage buildings, are more feasible than a monster that bears no relation to the area.

This is an extraordinary opportunity for planners, architects and engineers to construct something wonderful, even seminal. What foolishness to miss the chance.

Kindly ask the planners to come up with something sensible and workable. I strongly object to the current proposals, please forward my objection to the planners.

Many thanks,

Stella Astor
