Comment: I support the arguments put forward by the Mortlake Brewery Community Group which suggest that the pupil forecasts on which the case for a secondary school is based are out of date and have not been validated by actual experience. Indeed creating a new secondary school in the area risks damage to the viability of the existing three schools. Moreover, the site area allocated is based on that envisaged for a much smaller primary school. As others have noted, as a result the proposal fails to meet DfE standards, as well as stressing even further the inadequate communications in the area. The proposal also prevents the move of Thomson House primary school to the site. In addition, I support the other objections made by the Mortlake with East Sheen Society to the secondary school proposal
