No.97 High Street is a locally listed building in the High Street Teddington Conservation Area. The Management Plan notes that the "commercial aspects of the area makes it particularly vulnerable to unsympathetic development, particularly with regard to shop fronts, signage etc."

The proposed changes in this planning application, which have already been made, are neither minimal nor sensitive to the building and is the definition of an unsympathetic development with regard to a shop front.

Granting permission to this planning application will surely set precedent for future developments, potentially enabling shop owners to disregard the character and heritage of Teddington High Street and the Conservation Area.
