Comment: When granting the school permission to develop the site it was on the strict condition that pupil numbers would not be increased. I see no reason why this should change. An increase in pupil numbers would also mean an increase in staff. How many parking spaces in the school grounds are able to accommodate staff. It is likely therefore that more vehicles would be parked in an already congested Gloucester Road. This also makes it hazardous for schoolchildren cycling to school. The main access to the school is through a passageway not much wider than a vehicle. A safer way would be through Carlisle Park where pupils could walk safely to the rear entrance in a traffic free environment.
